Holiday Planning

Gift Ideas

To support a sustainable future, look for presents that use a minimum of resources. Give gifts that can be ordered online or over the phone and delivered to you free of charge. Keep an eye open for products made from recycled materials. Gift certificates to a favorite store or tickets to a concert, theater production or sporting event minimize time, packaging, wrapping and resource waste. An annual pass to State Parks might be perfect for your avid outdoors friend. An altruistic twist on this idea is to donate to a person's favorite charity or nonprofit organization, or ask people to donate to one in your name.

Entertaining

When planning holiday festivities, make it easy for your guests to recycle at gatherings by providing clearly marked recycling receptacles near the trash. Be planet-friendly by stocking plates, glasses and cutlery that can be washed and re-used.

Public Transit

Let someone else do the driving on shopping trips, and forego the holiday parking headaches. Try a bus or train. Check with local public transit for special holiday routes and hours.

The Main Course

Buy Recycled: Look for It, Ask for It

The holidays are perhaps our greatest opportunity to flex consumer muscles and buy recycled to help “close the loop.” Look for labels that say, “made with recycled materials” or “recycled content.” The higher the post-consumer content the better. If you can’t find a particular item with recycled content, ask the retailer to either special order it for you, or stock it in the future and purchase a gift certificate.

It might surprise you to know how many things, already part of your life, are actually made with recycled content. From carpet, fleece jackets and park benches to kayaks, decorative tile and glassware for the home, the wide array of products made with recycled content continues to expand. Forget concerns about durability or wear. Recycled materials and products go through the same testing procedures and quality control as their virgin-content counterparts.

Of the thousands of manufacturers and retailers offering recycled products, this guide represents only a small sampling designed to inspire you to “look for it, ask for it” whenever you shop, and especially during the holidays. Together, we can support markets for recycled products and efforts for a sustainable future.

In case you were wondering...

... recycled means that a product is made all or in part from a material that was once something else, like a can or bottle.

... recyclable merely indicates that a product or package can be recycled and used to make something else.

... post-consumer is a term for material that has been returned, recycled and reborn into a second life.

... pre-consumer is material that was discarded, or leftover, when used to make something else.

When you go about feathering a nest, check out these beautifully crafted items made with recycled content. For your friends who enjoy entertaining, a gift that adds beauty and grace to the home is one any host or hostess will enjoy.

The Trimmings

To Tree or Not to Tree

When it comes to trees, you have many options:

Live Trees: If gardening is your thing, think about a live tree to enjoy year-round and reuse every holiday season. Check with a local nursery to find out which trees grow best in your area.

Artificial Trees: Cost effective and always the perfect shape, artificial trees present another option for reuse. Miss the fresh pine aroma of real trees? Use candles or potpourri to fill your home with the scent of pine. From realistic models to a whimsical rattan version, choices abound in artificial trees.

Cut Trees: The average Christmas tree weighs 15 to 20 pounds and measures 6 to 7 feet tall. Each year, 50 million trees are purchased in the U.S. Of those, more than 30 million get carted to the landfill.

Why waste valuable landfill space when you can recycle or compost trees by chipping them with other holiday greenery to make mulch for your yard? To learn about composting at home visit:

www.ciwmb.ca.gov/Organics/HomeComp

Many cities and counties now offer holiday greenery recycling programs to produce mulch for schools, parks and roadsides. To find out if these programs are available in your area, visit: www.ciwmb.ca.gov/organics/events/xmasrecycling or contact your area recycling coordinator. For a listing of recycling coordinators, visit: www.consrv.ca.gov/DOR/grants/index.htm and click the "City/County Contact Information" link.

No Tree: Decorate a "holiday branch" from your yard. Cut holly and busy the kids with a holiday craft project. Arrange oranges, persimmons or pomegranates studded with whole cloves, in a bowl nested among evergreen branches in a prominent spot.

Evoke holiday ambiance by using only lights.

Gift Wrap

On gift wrap and packaging: Less is more. More for your pocketbook, more planet-friendly. Less to deal with, less in the landfills. Simplicity can be elegant, and often a bow and gift tag will do.

Making your own gift wrap and tags:

Another holiday project for the family.

- Use comics, calendar pages, old posters and colorful paper shopping bags. Customize wrap to individual personalities with pictures cut from magazines or newspapers of a favorite sport, animal or other theme.
- Watercolor and drawings require only paint, paper and a brush. Try a potato cut in half with a design carved into the surface for stamped patterns.

- For large packages, use only a bow and lead the recipient to the hidden present with a series of written treasure-hunt clues.
- Save wrap and ribbon to reuse.
- Save old cards to be reused as tags next year.

Buying wrap and cards: Select paper made with recycled content and soy-based inks for your gift wrap and card choices. Help your gift recipients by leaving tags on gift bags blank, so that they can reuse them.

More Green Ideas

Recycle More!

Californians have much to be proud of in their recycling efforts. The energy saved from recycling aluminum cans since 1987 could supply enough energy to meet the normal air conditioning needs of one household for more than 54 million years.

Recently however, recycling rates in California have slipped. In the year 2000, Californians discarded more than 2.1 billion aluminum cans. Had these cans been recycled, enough energy would have been saved to meet the residential electricity needs of San Francisco County for over 288 days, or Los Angeles County for 23.5 days! Urge your friends and neighbors to recycle more.

There are millions of aluminum, glass and plastic beverage containers that are subject to California Redemption Value (CRV), which means they can be recycled at a certified recycling center for money! In addition to soda bottles and beer cans, you can recycle hundreds of other beverage containers including those for sparkling cider, fruit and vegetable juices, coffee and tea drinks, water and even sports drinks. See the complete list at: www.consrv.ca.gov/DOR/qh_productListing.htm

One way to give back to the community is to organize a recycling drive and donate the money you make to a local charity. Ask neighbors and friends to drop off their beverage containers (or offer to pick them up) and take them to your nearest recycling center. To find the recycling center closest to you, visit www.bottlesandcans.com or call 1-800-RECYCLE.

Conserve Energy

The holiday season is a time when electricity usage is on the rise. On average, homes use 27 percent more energy in December than November. Here are some ideas to save energy during the holiday season:

- Turn lights off in unoccupied rooms.
- As an alternative to decorative lights, use strings of popcorn and cranberries, which can be fed to the birds after the holidays.
- Turn off holiday lights at night when you go to bed.
- Unless Santa is coming or you're burning a fire, close the chimney flue.
- Dine by candlelight once a week.
- Learn more cold-weather energy conservation tips at: www.flexyourpower.ca.gov.

Green Resolutions for the New Year

- 1. Recycle. If you aren't in the habit—start today, and encourage others to do the same. Recycling not only saves natural resources, but also saves energy!
- 2. Remember the other important “R’s”—Reduce and Reuse. Help to lessen the amount of waste by buying items that use little or no packaging, or “buying in bulk” which reduces unnecessary and excessive packaging; and, find ways to use items over and over again (e.g. refilling your empty water bottles).
- 3. Buy recycled-content products. Remember to “look for it, ask for it.” Resolve to “buy green” by purchasing at least one recycled-content product on a regular basis, such as paper towels or computer paper, that is made with post consumer content.
- 4. Free your home from toxins. Don't flush paints, solvents or chemicals down the toilet. Toilet bowl deodorizers, cleaning solutions with lye and many spot removers contain harmful solvents. Baking soda and vinegar substitute as great all-purpose cleaners. A wide variety of non-toxic cleaners, such as Seventh Generation, can be found at stores like Whole Foods Market and Trader Joe's. Cut down on pesticides and fertilizers in your garden and limit what you wash into rivers, bays and oceans.

5. Spare the Air. Resolve to minimize using your car whenever possible. Use public transportation, carpool or bicycle once or twice a week for more exercise and cleaner air.

6. Learn to Compost. Convert yard clippings and vegetable peelings into nature's fertilizer. Your garden will love you for it. Many cities and counties offer composting workshops and free or discounted compost bins.

7. See the Great Outdoors. Whether city, county, regional or state - visit California's world-class parks. Park volunteer or docent opportunities and special programs geared to kids represent ways to contribute to your community and enjoy nature at the same time.

You can cut monthly energy bills by 30 percent when you replace old appliances around the house with Energy Star products. Find rebates at: www.consumerenergycenter.org/rebate/index.php.
